Project Details

1. Describe the commodity/service that the agency/institution is seeking to procure:

Electronic cancer protocols (CAP eCP) are structured summary reports in a standardized XML format that enable the collection of cancer data elements essential for patient care and selection of treatment protocols. Pathologists are required to complete synoptic reports for certain testing protocols as part of the laboratory accreditation process. The CAP eCP product integrates with Epic to provide standard formats for these reports. They are updated periodically by CAP and implemented by Epic as data courier downloads. There are thousands of these reports and they are subject to change many times a year.

2. Explain why the commodity/service is the only one (1) that can meet the needs of the agency/institution:

The electronic cancer protocols were developed by CAP and are copyrighted and not available from any other source.

3. Explain why the source is the only person or entity that can provide the required commodity/service:

There are no other distributors or agents authorized to maintain or support this product. See supporting letter from The College of American Pathologists (CAP), Attachment A.

4. Explain why the amount to be expended for the commodity/service is reasonable:

The estimated amount to be expended for the purchase of Electronic Cancer Protocols is $52,000.00. Please be advised that UMMC will determine if additional enhancements, upgrades, support, or equipment are within scope during the certification period and may increase the spending authority accordingly. Should The College of American Pathologists (CAP) change their name during this certification period, then UMMC will determine if a recertification is necessary.

This amount is within the expected price range for these products.

5. Describe the efforts that the agency/institution went through to obtain the best possible price for the commodity/service:

Pricing is compared against available market intelligence and identified discounts are pursued where applicable.
