About Via

Via Seating opened its doors in 1987 and the commercial furniture industry was changed forever. Innovating like no other in the mid-market, Via was the first company to introduce 48-hour manufacturing time. And we did it on every chair, every fabric and every leather. Via Seating also created a whole new category of chairs called 'execu-task' seating. This new category was born out of the idea that a seat of power should have great ergonomic function too. These were the original inspirations of the founder of Via, Danish-born Thomas Sorensen.

As the seating specialist, Via continues to lead the industry in innovation today. All our categories of seating still live up to the original promise of a rapid manufacturing time and each series has hidden goodness built in that sets it apart. Patented & proprietary Copper-Infused Mesh is available on all mesh back chairs to reduce cross contamination of disease and meet requirements for infectious disease control. Proprietary, injection-molded, comfort foam is engineered into all cushions to ensure long-term comfort and support. These key core elements embody Via's passion for innovation and appetite to think differently.

Via people are different. Via people get up in the morning thinking of chairs and go to bed at night dreaming about them. Via people see the world through the lens of a chair. This perspective holds the customer at the core. Via understands the impact of what a great chair can do and consequently what a poorly designed chair could do. We take this to heart as our great responsibility and opportunity to improve the quality of life for our customers. We take to heart Intentional Ergonomic Design Focused on Health and Wellness in all that we do at Via Seating.
