CONSTRUCTION

Design · Construction · Quality · Value

- The internal assembly uses premium glue, dowels, mortise-and-tenon joint construction, stainless steel frame staples and threaded fasteners for a solid, high-performance build.
- The seat suspension features sinuous springs of 8-gauge hardened tubular steel with 16-gauge cross brace wires.
- The seat is covered with a layer of highly durable decking between the springs and cushion.
- The back springs are constructed from 11-gauge hardened tubular steel connected by a 16-gauge cross brace.
- The arm and back panel assemblies use heavy-duty substrate material for added strength and foundation for the fiber assemblies.
- All Flexsteel products feature high-resiliency foams and premium synthetic fibers. All products use CAL 117 foam with upgrades to TB 133 standards if desired.
- Exposed wood components are made of quality hardwood.
- Our standard, premium and custom-matched finishes are solvent free and water based.
- Frames are reinforced for long-term durability and heavy usage.
- For over 120 years, Flexsteel's philosophy of standing by our products continues with product warranties available on all Flexsteel furniture.
- All Flexsteel products are tested to commercial standards using American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and Business and Institutional Furniture Manufacturers Association (BIFMA) x 5.1 standards to ensure longevity for our customers.

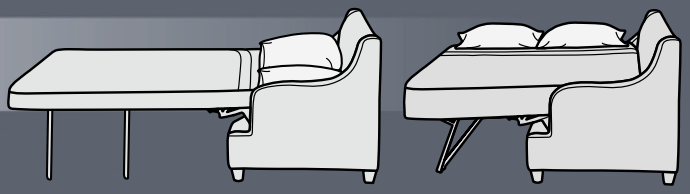
Sleep Between the Arms



Flexsteel's exclusive Sleep Between the Arms sleeper sofa has revolutionized the world of sleeper sofas by not only giving guest the benefits of a real-bed sleep but also an extremely comfortable seat. Sleep Between the Arms allows the length of the mattress to open between the arms of the sofa, minimizing the mattress projection into the room.

The Sleep Between the Arms patented spring system, controlled by the internal mechanism, enables the surface to compress from 8.5 inches to 1.25 inches in the mattress center without compromising mattress quality.

This stylish, well-engineered sleeper sofa is built in the United States and is available exclusively through Flexsteel. Offering the best of both worlds, Sleep Between the Arms provides an incredible sit and an even better sleep, making it ideal for any compact, heavy-use environment.

A potential savings of 26"–29" or up to 14 square feet less than the average sleeper sofa.

Requires additional 12"W x 1.5"D more than traditional sleeper sofa frames to accommodate the 80"W mechanism.

Flexsteel® History, Sustainability & Logistics

Flexsteel's commitment to quality began more than 120 years ago with the founding of the company in 1893. Flexsteel began developing a line of sofas, sleeper sofas, divans, chairs and even forming the early foundations of a hospitality line for churches and hotels. In 1917, the company decided to use a unique, all-riveted, blue-clock steel spring to differentiate itself from the competition. This new spring was originally intended for European railroad car seating. However, it worked so well that in 1934, the company became the Flexsteel Spring Corporation, and thus patented the name of its signature spring as Flexsteel. In 1936, the company moved to what is now its global headquarters in Dubuque, Iowa. As business grew, the company began expansion efforts and added several large plants across the country to accommodate increasing demand. During this time, the corporation itself began to take shape. A central engineering department was established, national advertising opportunities emerged and the first truck in the company's fleet rolled out. In 1958, after establishing itself as a trusted leader in design, the company evolved and was renamed Flexsteel Industries, Inc., after the famous spring.

Over the next 50 years, Flexsteel expanded its line to include commercial office case goods.

We now serve Hospitality as well as Residential, Acute Healthcare, Senior Living, Commercial Office and Vehicle Seating customers.

With a broad portfolio of products serving multiple commercial and residential markets, the Flexsteel Industries' manufacturing and sourcing footprint has grown considerably. With seven plants throughout the United States, the company is able to serve domestic and international customers' growing business needs. And much like its operations, Flexsteel has expanded and optimized its warehouse and distribution strategy with a company-owned fleet of tractors and trailers that ensure effective distribution routes for efficient, on-time, in-full delivery to our customers. And our commitment to quality doesn't end there. Flexsteel also strives to promote sustainability.

Sustainable by Design

Flexsteel is currently one of only a handful of furniture companies to have passed the standards of the American Home Furnishings' "Sustainable by Design" environmental program. Use of these standards is in keeping with Flexsteel's proactive approach to environmental sustainability. Through these standards, Flexsteel is committed to reducing our environmental footprint while addressing social responsibility and helping to establish standards that also benefit our consumers. Flexsteel is proud to create furniture using a combination of recycled products and natural materials to promote waste management without sacrificing style or the environment.

Sustainable by Design

- Flexsteel meets and upholds the standards of the American Home Furnishings' "Sustainable by Design" environmental program.
- These standards show we are committed to proactively reducing our environmental footprint.
- Establishing and upholding these standards not only helps Flexsteel, but also our customers.
- Flexsteel is proud to use recycled products and natural materials.
- These environmental efforts allow us to promote waste management without sacrificing style or the environment.
