District overview

A collection of desks, cabinets, windows and walls, District™ offers the look and feel of furniture together with the functional features of systems. Its multi-use components offer a myriad of planning options for any office environment.

ARCHITECTURAL FURNITURE
District echoes the long, low lines of mid-century modern furniture and, like the design of that era, achieves a remarkable transparency with layered surfaces and a refined scale. District reinterprets the modernist blend of sleek, functional design for the contemporary office.

The use of veneers, glass, painted wood construction and anodized aluminum reflects these inspirations and brings the look and feel of furniture to the open plan.

EFFICIENT USE OF SPACE
District maximizes smaller spaces with products that serve multiple functions. Credenzas and storage support workspaces and define space. Overlapping planes and under-surface storage make optimal use of vertical as well as horizontal space.

Furniture look and feel

District has the look and feel of well-crafted architectural furniture, yet provides the high level of functionality required in the contemporary office.

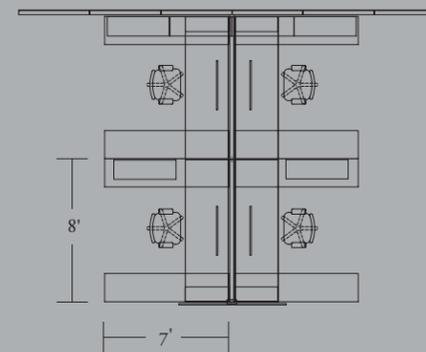

- Multi-purpose credenzas support worksurfaces and reduce the need for panel-based planning, preserving the distinctive look of furniture

- Layered surfaces and elevated credenzas lend a distinctive transparency
- Cabinets and shelves stack on credenzas to create workstations unique in form and function
- Screens and windows supply space division without obstructing light or views

FINISHES AND MATERIALS

- Linoleum worksurfaces soften the visual and tactile experience; matte finish offers an enhanced aesthetic
- Aluminum Acrylic edge band exudes a silk-matte finish showing depth and quality similar in appearance to anodized aluminum
- Seamless Color—a unique finish that integrates an edge detail—can be combined with veneers to achieve a lower price range

- SmartLeather offers a luxurious, cost-effective alternative to leather
- Fascias create varied aesthetics with solid, wood, metal and fabric finish options
- Laminated glass from Teknion's Vanceva program achieves varying degrees of transparency and looks with colored, white or frosted options

More out of small spaces

District makes efficient use of space by creating clever, compact workstations with multi-functional furniture pieces, without sacrificing comfort or aesthetics.

Multi-tiered workstations with overlapping surfaces afford a feeling of spaciousness, and scaled-down versions of traditional storage make optimal use of volume and space within a smaller footprint.

- Generous primary worksurface depths up to 36 inches can be augmented by a secondary return with under-worksurface storage to optimize space
- Credenzas support worksurfaces, offer file and binder storage, define individual work areas and provide casual seating

- Compact storage towers define space, support worksurfaces, offer binder storage, store coats and hide wastebaskets/recycle bins to free-up floor space

The private office often requires furniture that can assume multiple functions.

District reinterprets classic mid-century design elements in a contemporary spirit, bringing a casegoods look and feel to a private office.

- Refined scale and overlapping surfaces preserve a sense of lightness and openness within a strong architectural aesthetic
- Storage units are available elevated or to the floor in open or closed styles, with corresponding depths for consistent front-flush alignment

- Most District furniture is freestanding, requiring little or no additional support
- District storage mounts to drywall, Altos® architectural walls and the W/R/S™ wall rail system, which offer functional and aesthetic integration with Teknion furniture
